Re: Impersonation of the Federal Trade Commission on webpage hosted by Cloudflare.

Dear Cloudflare:

I write to inform you that one or more webpages hosted by Cloudflare appear to impersonate the Federal Trade Commission's ("FTC") name, logo, and website content without authorization.

As shown in the attached screenshots, the upper lefthand corner of the website ftc-help.com prominently displays the name "Federal Trade Commission" and a replica of the FTC's logo. FTC-help.com also has graphics that mimic those found on the FTC's own Report Fraud website, and it utilizes the same color scheme and a similar layout as the official FTC webform where consumers can report fraud to the FTC. FTC-help.com website, however, requests consumers' sensitive information such as social security numbers, driver's license numbers, and bank account information, which the actual FTC's webpage does not do, and which has likely effect of deceiving consumers into inputting their sensitive data into the imposter FTC webform.

The FTC is not affiliated with the entities or individuals operating this website. Please be advised that it is a violation of the Rule on Impersonation of Government and Businesses ("Impersonator Rule"), 16 C.F.R. § 461, to "materially and falsely pose as, directly or by implication, a government entity or officer."

We hope to hear from you promptly regarding this important consumer protection matter. In that communication, we would appreciate it if you would please provide data or other information identifying any other webpages associated with <https://report.ftc-help.com>. Please respond directly, and direct any questions, to Sara Tonnesen, stonnesen@ftc.gov, 202-326-2879.

Sincerely,

/s/ Lois C. Greisman
